Staff Report

Origin

On December 13, 2004 Council endorsed the Draft Richmond Problem Gambling Prevention & Treatment Strategy and requested that:

"staff report to Committee on:

- (i) interim Richmond initiatives which could be taken with regard to addiction issues, and*
- (ii) the suggestions made by RAS."*

Findings Of Fact

1. Provincial Update

A letter to the City from the Honourable Rich Coleman, Solicitor General (Attachment 1), was received on February 17, 2005 in reply to two letters from the City. The City letters addressed the following resolutions:

That:

- (1) the draft Richmond Problem Gambling Prevention and Treatment Strategy be forwarded to the Gaming Policy and Enforcement Branch (GPEB) of the Ministry of Public Safety & Solicitor General (MPS&SG) and the British Columbia Lottery Corporation (BCLC) and that they be requested to:
(a) take a leadership role by finalizing the Strategy in collaboration with other stakeholders,
(b) recognize the final Strategy as a five-year Provincial pilot strategy, and
(c) fund the final Strategy.*

and

- (2) the Provincial Government be requested to address the issue of annual funding to RAS to better enable them to deliver gambling prevention and treatment services in Richmond.*

Reply to letter re: Draft Richmond Problem Gambling Prevention and Treatment Strategy

The Minister replied that:

- the Province has a comprehensive problem gambling prevention and treatment service program that is province-wide,
- the Province has no intention of funding alternative programs,
- a provincial three-year action plan is being developed to address policy, research, education, treatment and prevention initiatives related to problem and responsible gambling, and
- Richmond will be informed regarding the Provincial Strategy.

The Provincial Strategy will be announced by the end of March, 2005.

Re: Annual Funding to RAS

The Minister replied that:

- Richmond Addiction Services (RAS) utilized 60 per cent of their contract funding last year,
- additional resources are available to meet demand, and
- should RAS submit a proposal for more staff or funding, the Ministry would review it.

2. City Update

A City Problem Gambling Stakeholder Meeting was held on January 24, 2005 to discuss the Draft Richmond Problem Gambling Prevention and Treatment Strategy (Attachment 2).

Richmond stakeholders will meet again to discuss next steps when the Provincial Strategy is known (by the end of March, 2005).

3. Richmond Addiction Services Update

A letter dated February 17, 2005 from Richmond Addiction Services (RAS) identifies the following three initiatives that Richmond may consider undertaking as interim measures until the Provincial strategy is known and implemented (Attachment 3):

- (1) Problem Gambling Prevention Initiative - $91,950.00,
- (2) Outreach Problem Gambling Counselling - $76,700.00, and
- (3) Research - $75,000.00.

Total Cost - $243,650.00

4. Problem Gambling Research – Request for Endorsement

A letter dated January 27, 2005 was received from a Coquitlam citizens group, "Citizens Examining the Social Impact of Gambling", requesting endorsement for the establishment of an independent research institute to explore the social and economic impact of gambling in B.C., similar to the Gaming Research Institute in Alberta (Attachment 4).

Analysis

1. RAS – Accessing Provincial Funding

In 2004, RAS did not fully access available Provincial problem gambling funding because only one counsellor was approved to work on both problem gambling prevention and treatment contracts.

In 2005, RAS will explore the possibility of receiving full provincial problem gambling funding. It is unknown whether their proposal will be accepted or rejected.

2. Interim RAS Funding for Problem Gambling

Option 1: Wait until the Provincial Strategy is known.

Description

- Richmond does not fund interim problem gambling services until the Provincial Strategy has been received and reviewed.
- Richmond stakeholders would meet again to review the Provincial Strategy.

- After May 2005, the City may negotiate with the Province to increase problem gambling services to Richmond, if the Provincial strategy is found to be inadequate.
- By late May 2005, a report would be submitted to Council regarding the provincial strategy, its impact on Richmond and any City funding for RAS problem gambling services.

Pros:

- City minimizes costs; and
- Avoids possible Provincial and City duplication of funding.

Cons:

- Additional problem gambling prevention and treatment services for Richmond residents would be delayed.

Option 2: Provide interim 2005 funding until March 2006 to RAS for problem gambling services (Recommended).

Description

- City provides funding on an interim basis to March 2006 – additional RAS services would be provided immediately for one year.
- Once the Provincial strategy has been implemented, the City would re-examine the need for any City funding of problem gambling prevention, treatment and research services.

Pros:

- Immediate additional RAS services would be provided to March 2006, the time when the City would determine its next community grant allocations.

Cons:

- City would be funding a Provincial responsibility.
- May be difficult for the City to withdraw from long-term funding.

3. Type of Interim RAS Services

RAS has indicated that the following problem gambling services are needed:

- (1) Problem Gambling Prevention Initiative - $91,950.00
- (2) Outreach Problem Gambling Counselling - $76,700.00
- (3) Research Project - $75,000.00

Total Cost: $243,650.00

At this point, the City has approximately $100,000 left in the Community Grants Budget.

Option 1: Full Interim RAS Services

Description

- The City would provide $243,650.00 to RAS in 2005
- Source of City funds:
 - $100,000.00 from the City's Community Grants budget
 - $143,650.00 - not available from the City's Community Grants budget

Pros:

- Full interim RAS services

Cons:

- City funds not available.
- City would be funding a provincial responsibility.

Option 2: Partial RAS Services (Recommended)

Description

- Provide $91,950 to RAS for 2005 for interim problem gambling prevention services to March 2006.
- The full $91,950 is recommended because it will ensure that the interim RAS problem gambling prevention services will be provided for a full year and until the City determines whether or not to provide RAS with any additional problem gambling prevention, treatment and research services in March 2006.

Pros:

- Prevention is more cost effective than treatment
- Provides some interim RAS service immediately
- Utilizes available City Community Grant funding.

Cons:

- Does not address all interim needs
- City would be funding a provincial responsibility.

4. Problem Gambling Research – Request for Endorsement

A Coquitlam citizens group is seeking endorsement of a request for the establishment of an independent research institute to explore the social and economic impact of gambling in B.C.

Council may either:

- endorse the request now,
- defer a decision until the Provincial strategy is known, or
- not endorse the request.

Staff recommend delaying endorsement until the research component of the Provincial strategy is known.

Financial Impact

1. $91,950.00, for RAS to provide interim problem gambling prevention services for one year until March 2006, from the City Community Grants budget.

Conclusion

Staff recommend that:

1. $91,950.00 be provided to Richmond Addiction Services for interim problem gambling prevention services for one year, until March 2006;
2. RAS be asked for an annual report of services provided; and
3. a decision regarding the request for support for the establishment of an independent problem gambling research institute be deferred.

Dear Mayor Brodie:

I am responding to your December 21, 2004 letter outlining your Draft Problem Gambling Prevention and Treatment Strategy and your request for funding.

While we appreciate the municipality's efforts, the Province has a comprehensive problem gambling prevention and treatment services for all British Columbians. These services are part of a larger Responsible Gambling Strategy developed by the Province, in conjunction with the British Columbia Lottery Corporation. We are not considering funding alternative programs at this time.

The Province's Responsible Gambling Strategy and related partnership ensures that gaming is delivered in a responsible manner to minimize risk to participants. A three-year action plan is being developed, addressing policy, research, education, treatment and prevention initiatives related to problem and responsible gambling. When the plan is completed, it will be shared with municipalities and other stakeholders, and I will ensure you receive a copy.

With regard to services currently offered in the City of Richmond and elsewhere in British Columbia, a Request for Qualifications (RFQ) process was undertaken in 2003 to ensure that qualified counselors deliver problem gambling services on behalf of the Province. The province pays for these services on a fee for service basis.

His Worship Malcolm D. Brodie
Page 2

Richmond Addiction Services put forward one counsellor to be qualified in the RFQ process. Based on their reported caseload, only 60 per cent of their contract funding was utilized last year. Additional resources are available to meet demand. However, Richmond Addiction Services has not submitted a proposal for more staff or funding from the Problem Gambling Program. If the need is there, I would be pleased to review such a proposal.

March 2, 2005

Terry Crowe
Manager
Policy Planning Department
City of Richmond
6911 N0. 3 Road
Richmond, BC V6Y 2C1

Dear Terry:

In response to your request I am pleased to submit an outline of the interim steps Richmond could take to address problem gambling prior to the possible implementation of the provincial pilot project.

In submitting this for your consideration it is important for me to note that Richmond Addiction Services does not wish to have consideration of funding these steps to in any way jeopardize or be viewed in lieu of our original request for a grant from the City.

The funding that we are seeking by way of the City's grant process is crucial to our ability to maintain our existing prevention initiatives in the school and community. Although we believe additional funding for problem gambling is important for this community our first priority is our prevention and community outreach initiative.

I trust that this information will be of assistance to you in considering how the City of Richmond will proceed with addressing problem gambling. If you require further information please let me know.

Sincerely,

Vince Battistelli

Interim Problem Gambling Initiatives for the City of Richmond

In response to a request from the staff of the Social Planning of the City of Richmond, Richmond Addictions Services submits the following proposal.

The proposal sets out interim steps Richmond could be taking to address problem gambling prior to the possible implementation of the Provincial Pilot Project.

There are three initiatives that we propose.

1. Problem Gambling Prevention Initiative

This initiative will focus on the development and implementation of prevention programs and strategies targeted at children and youth, teachers and counselors, parents and seniors. Although some of the focus will be on the general adult population, the majority of the focus will be on the other targeted populations.

The intent of the prevention initiative is to:

- a) help children and youth acquire the knowledge and skills necessary for making appropriate choices re gambling
- b) Help teachers and counselors acquire the knowledge and resources to assist them in developing and delivering classroom sessions about gambling and making appropriate choices regarding gambling
- c) Help parents learn about gambling and its consequences so that they can support preventative gambling initiatives conducted in the schools

2. Outreach Problem Gambling Counselling

This initiative would, as a result of an agreement with the Casino management, have a Problem Gambling Counsellor provide counseling services within the casino to persons referred by staff or self identifying as having gambling problems.

Implementation of this strategy will involve employment of a full time Problem Gambling Addictions Counsellor.

3. Research

There is currently little data specific to Richmond regarding gambling and the potential impact of the River Rock Casino on this community.

This initiative involves conducting a research program to monitor and analyze the impact of the casino on the gambling behaviour of the people of Richmond, attitudes toward gambling, social costs, the gambling related demographics of the community, incidence of gambling related crime, health costs, etc. The project would establish base line data for these areas of interest and provide data for the development of recommendations for the refinement or amendment of Richmond's Problem Gambling strategy.

January 27, 2005

Greetings

This letter is to inform you of our recent actions since the community consultation on Identifying and Minimizing the Social Costs of Gambling held on October 27, 2004 sponsored by the City of Coquitlam.

A number of citizens continued to meet to explore next steps. A decision was made to focus our resources on the establishment of an independent research institute to explore the social and economic impact of gambling in B.C. This research institute would be similar to the Gaming Research Institute in Alberta,

A motion supporting this initiative was unanimously endorsed by the City of Coquitlam in February 2004 and by the Union of BC Municipalities in September 2004. Recently the City of Vancouver passed a similar motion calling for an independent research institute. Attached is brief statement summarizing the rationale for an Independent Research Institute in B.C.

If you or an organization you represent support this initiative we invite you to contact your Member of the Legislative Assembly with your endorsement. We also request that you complete and return to us the enclosed form or contact us at the numbers below so that we may add your name to our list of supporters. We welcome any suggestions or actions to move this initiative forward.

Please send your endorsement for the establishment of an independent research institute to:
