Staff Report

Origin

On January 11, 2005 the City of Richmond entered into a two-year contract agreement (ending August 31, 2006) for the SPCA to provide pound and shelter services at the City's Animal Shelter. As part of this agreement staff was to review the animal control bylaws and associated impound and boarding fees.

The Community Safety Committee has also requested that staff report on any appropriate adjustments to the fines included in the Municipal Ticket Information Authorization Bylaw.

Analysis

Since September 2004, the Community Bylaws staff have been monitoring and enforcing animal control bylaws. The amendments proposed in this report reflect the concerns identified by staff, suggestions from the public and housekeeping proposals, to clarify the intent of some provisions of the bylaws.

There are new sections relating to the control of animals in and around public places and to increase an owner's responsibility for the actions of their pet. There is a new section holding an owner responsible should their animal kill, hurt and harass a person or another animal. Currently, the bylaw does not contain an offence where a dog bites an individual or attacks another dog and the only action that can be taken is to deem a dog dangerous. A number of the changes strengthen the leash requirements for dogs and a specific definition of a leash or leashed is now incorporated into the definitions within the Bylaw. The provisions regarding designated dog off-leash areas have been moved to a new subsection and the stipulation that no person may have more than three (3) dogs off leash at any one time has been included. A number of definitions have been added or altered for clarification of what is intended under the bylaw. Animal Control Bylaw No. 7932 will replace Animal, Bird and Beekeeping Bylaw No. 7137 and its amendments. The new name more accurately reflects the content of the bylaw and will allow for easier access by interested persons.

The impoundment fees charged by the SPCA have not been changed for a number of years. These fees have been adjusted to reflect increased costs incurred by the SPCA. These costs include the care and maintenance of the animals but also the increased labour costs and the operational expenses associated with the running of the shelter.

The Dog Licencing Bylaw has several housekeeping amendments to bring the bylaw up-to-date and to ensure consistency within the bylaw. For example, the licencing requirement for dogs was 8 weeks of age in one section and 6 months of age in another. The amendments will require a dog to have a licence when 8 weeks old. The provision to reduce the licence fee payable by seniors, while remaining in the bylaw, has been modified. The 50% reduction, for dogs licenced in the previous year, now extends only until February 28 (to encourage people to purchase a licence within a reasonable time in the new year). Where a dog is acquired by a senior after March 1st the 50% reduction would continue to apply, also the reduction is applied only to dogs that have been spayed or neutered.

Dog Licence fees are being increased to reflect fees charged in other municipalities in the Lower Mainland (Attachment 4). Schedule A which includes the fee structure for dogs continues to provide a discount for licences purchased prior to March 1st and there is a lower fee for spayed or neutered dogs. A new licence category, for a dangerous dog, has been added where the licence fee is significantly higher than for other dogs. The new fees for the dog licences will not take affect until 2006.

Fine increases and new fine sections have been recommended in the Municipal Ticket Information Bylaw for animal related bylaw violations. Where the offence relates to the welfare/care of the animal or the safety of the public the increases are significant. Other fines have been increased, but only marginally. Fines have been included, for the first time, regulating how pet stores house and sell animals.

With close to 5,000 dog licences already being sold in 2005 these bylaw changes will affect a significant number of residents. To inform people of these changes there will be a press release and information will be included in future city-wide mailings and on the City website.

In addition to the animal control bylaw changes this report is being used to increase the fines for three offences under the Public Health Protection Bylaw 6989 from $100. to $250. There has been an increase in the number of offences of smoking in locations where prohibited and these two fines are being increased to reflect the City's commitment to a smoke free environment. Also, the penalty for permitting an animal noise, which disturbs others in the community, is being increased.

Financial Impact

Increased impound and boarding fees will off set some of the SPCA's operating costs associated with housing stray animals. Increased dog licence fees will generate approximately $40,000 in increased revenues to fund a dog management program (promoting animal awareness).

Conclusion

That the bylaw amendments included with this report be approved to enhance the tools available to animal control officers and to provide improved cost recovery for the sheltering of animals.
