Staff Report

Origin

The provincial Liquor Control and Licensing Branch (LCLB) issues licences in accordance with the Liquor Control and Licensing Act and Regulations.

The LCLB notifies local government to give them the opportunity to provide comments and recommendations to the LCLB on certain liquor licence applications and amendments. For an amendment to an existing Food-Primary Liquor Licence, the process requires the local government to provide a Council resolution that addresses the following review criteria:

- the views of the nearby residents and businesses, and the method by which views were gathered,
- the potential for noise, and
- the impact on the community.

This report deals with an application by Dae Jang Geum Restaurant Ltd, doing business as “Yuu and Homayi Restaurants”, to amend their Food-Primary Liquor Licence to change hours of sale to 9:00 am to 2:00 am from Mondays through Sundays (Attachment 1).

Analysis & Comments on the Review Criteria

A) Application summary

Yuu Restaurant and Homayi Restaurant specialize in casual and fine seafood and dim sum. Both restaurants are located in the same premise, sharing one kitchen. Both restaurants are covered by the same liquor licence. Both restaurants are owned by Dae Jang Geum Restaurant Ltd.

The table below provides a summary of the application:

Item	Details
Application	Amendment to Food-Primary Liquor Licence # 301107
Type	Change to Hours of Sale

Present Hours of Liquor Sales	9:00 am – Midnight, Mondays through Sundays
Proposed Hours of Liquor Sales	9:00 am – 2:00 am, Mondays through Sundays

Date Received	January 11, 2006
Date Sign Posted	March 18, 2006
Ads in Newspaper	March 18, 23, and 25, 2006
Letters to residents	March 23, 2006
Public Notification Period	March 18-April 18, 2006
Deadline to provide Resolution	June 27, 2006

B) Zoning & surrounding land uses

This establishment is located at 8251 Alexandra Road (Attachment 2). The property is zoned Automobile-Oriented Commercial District (C6), which permits a Food Catering Establishment. The restaurant is consistent with the zoning for this property.

The area surrounding the establishment is mainly commercial with residential to the north. Properties to the west, south, and east of the establishment are commercial. Immediately north of the establishment is a single-family residential area that stretches further northeast. The City Centre Area Plan's vision for future redevelopment of this residential area is "mixed-used light industrial".

C) Views of nearby residents, businesses, and property owners

To satisfy the provincial requirements, the City established an application review process, which includes several public notification requirements clearly outlined in Part 1.9 of Bylaw 7276 (Attachment 3).

The Applicant is required to notify the public and to request their comments on the application. The Applicant completed all of the City's requirements, which includes:

- posting a sign on the subject site for a minimum of 30 days (Attachment 4),
- placing three ads in the local newspaper (Attachment 5), and
- paying a City application review fee, part of which covers the cost of sending letters to businesses, residents, and property owners within 100 metres of the establishment (Attachment 6).

There are 36 properties located within the public notification area. Letters were sent to 156 residents, businesses, and property owners associated with such properties to gather their views on the application. 31 letters were returned undeliverable (approx 20%).

The public notification period for this application ended on April 18, 2006.

The response from the community was minimal. The City received three verbal responses from residents in the area who wanted to remain anonymous. The residents expressed concern about the potential for increased rowdy activity if liquor service hours were extended until 2:00 am.

The City did not receive any written responses as a result of the public notification process.

E) Potential for noise

The establishment is located in a commercial area that is already impacted by ambient noise from commercial uses. There is some concern about the potential for noise from patrons leaving the establishment after having consumed liquor at later hours. Any noise complaints would be dealt with using the City's regular methods of enforcement.

F) Potential impacts on the community

The potential for negative impacts on the community associated with liquor consumption at extended hours are understood. It is also understood that extended hours pose increased enforcement issues.

The City has also received an application for a new Liquor-Primary licensed establishment on Alexandra Road. Staff are concerned about the impact of the new establishment as well as the impact of extending the hours of liquor sales at Yuu & Homyi Restaurant. Alexandra Road has been the most enforced area in Richmond because of frequent violations. As a result, Staff are not supportive of a permanent extension of hours in this case, but would consider a temporary extension of hours until 1:00 am Mondays through Saturdays for a period of 11 months, with closing hours to remain at midnight on Sundays. This will allow for a review with residents and other agencies during the extension.

This decision is in line with past decisions on extension of hours over the past 3 years. Data received from LCLB shows that of all 243 Food-Primary establishments in Richmond, there are only 35 establishments with hours of liquor sales ending at 2:00 am Mondays through Saturdays. On Sundays, the number of Food-Primary establishments closing at 2:00 am drops to 15. With the exception of 4 Food-Primary establishments, all of the 2:00 am closings were approved by LCLB prior to the provincial legislative changes in 2003 (Attachment 7).

G) Other agency comments

Staff have considered comments from the City's Business Licence and Building Approvals departments, Vancouver Coastal Health, Richmond RCMP, and Richmond Fire-Rescue in reviewing this applications. These agencies provide comments on the compliance history of applicants' operations in light of their mandates.

Business Licence Staff indicated that there is no history of non-compliance to City regulations or liquor licensing regulations at this establishment. Staff feel that incidents of non-compliance would have to be dealt with as they arise, and would be addressed using the City's regular methods of enforcement

The City's Building Approvals department indicated that the Building Permit application for tenant improvements to this site is still under review. Staff are confident that outstanding building issues will be addressed by the applicant prior to the Building Permit being issued. There are no comments relative to this liquor licence application for extended hours.

Vancouver Coastal Health indicated that there are outstanding food safety and sanitation issues at this establishment. Although there is no history of noise complaints at this establishment, the Health department generally cautions against supporting later hours at establishments that are located near residential areas.

The Richmond RCMP indicated that there have been two prior incidents of intoxicated people in the parking lot, although it was not clear whether these were patrons of Yuu & Homyi Restaurants. The RCMP do not support extended liquor service hours in the City.

Richmond Fire-Rescue identified several Fire Code violations at this establishment and will not support this application until these issues have been addressed. It is understood that follow-up to these Fire Code violations will be done as part of Richmond Fire-Rescue's regular methods of enforcement.

Financial Impact

None.

Conclusion

Staff reviewed the application by Dae Jang Geum Restaurant Ltd, doing business as "Yuu and Homyi Restaurants", to amend their Food-Primary Liquor Licence to change hours of sale to 9:00 am to 2:00 am seven days per week. The application was reviewed and processed in accordance with the City's Bylaw 7276, and the application was considered in light of the provincial review criteria.

The Applicant completed all of the City's requirements.

The City received minimal response from the community in regards to this application. The public notification process included ads in the local newspaper, a sign posted on the subject property, and letters to the neighbourhood.

156 letters were sent to residents, business, and property owners to gather their views of the application. 31 letters were returned undeliverable (approx 20 %), and three verbal responses were received from area residents that wished to remain anonymous. No written responses were received. In the absence of stronger public feedback, the application was reviewed based on the compliance history of the Applicant, on staff opinion, and on the opinions of the agencies consulted.

In the absence of stronger public feedback, this application was considered in light of the provincial review criteria and the opinion of Staff and of those agencies consulted.

Staff recommend that Council support a temporary extension of hours until 1:00 am Mondays through Saturdays for a period of eleven months, with closing hours to remain at midnight on Sundays. Once the eleven months are completed Council will be in a better position to make a recommendation on a permanent licence. This will also allow Staff to consider the compliance history of the applicant during the temporary period while the hours have been extended. This will also give the surrounding neighbourhood the opportunity to express their views based on the operations of these establishments during the temporary period.

Shore's Capilano and Seymour, where the plight of the prized sport fish is "an extreme conservation concern."

In the Capilano, it says, steelhead are facing much colder than optimal water temperatures because the GVRD's Cleveland dam releases water from the bottom of the Capilano Reservoir, where water is coldest.

A different release mechanism would help, it said.

The Fraser River, which topped last year's endangered list, was ranked third this time and has been near the top for years.

Urbanization, industrial pollution, sewage, agricultural impacts and logging in the headwaters continue to threaten the river, the report said.

It also flagged incidents like this month's accidental draining of a major back channel near Rosedale, killing millions of newly hatched salmon fry, and said the river faces challenges from low summer flows and reduced streamside protection for tributaries.

New developments near Iona Spit, including YVR's airport expansion and a ered harmful to fish," the council said.

Urbanization is also an issue. An estimated 20,000 to 30,000 new residents coming to the lower slopes of Burke Mountain will put more pressure on river habitat, the report warned.

Tenth on the list is the Salmon River flowing through Langley.

Coho salmon returns there have fallen to as little as 2,000 last year from more than 20,000 in the mid 1980s and perhaps as high as 100,000 historically.

The report blames mainly manure contamination from area farms.

It warns there's ongoing pressure to dredge the river or drain the Fort Langley floodplain, and there's ongoing interest in developing upstream Agricultural Land Reserve areas.

Also on the council's watch list include the Nicomekl River.

It and various south coast streams like Byrne Creek in Burnaby have seen steep declines in coho returns.

"Things can still be turned around if there is a strong enough will to do so," Angelo said of the threats to river habitat.

Health guide proves popular

The B.C. government has handed out nearly 500,000 copies of its latest B.C. HealthGuide, and Health Minister George Abbott credits the participation of the province's pharmacies.

"Our government has partnered with the B.C. Pharmacy Association to distribute the new B.C. HealthGuide handbooks in pharmacies all across the province," Abbott said. "We want to encourage every household in British Columbia to pick up their free copy."

The handbook provides information on common health concerns, home treatments, chronic disease and illness prevention. The B.C. HealthGuide program also provides after-hours telephone access to pharmacists to answer medication-related questions. The program includes B.C. NurseLine, a 24-hour medical assistance service with foreign language translation. B.C. NurseLine can be reached in Greater Vancouver at 604-215-4700, toll-free across the province at 1-866-215-4700 or for hearing impaired service 1-866-889-4700.

Express Flight Operations. It is the largest fine every handed out to an airline in B.C.

Transport Canada also revoked the airline's operations certificate, a rarely-taken step. The last time that happened in B.C. was in 1989, according to Transport Canada spokesperson Rod Nelson.

Without the certificate, Sonicblue can't provide commercial air services in Canada.

Aside from the fine, the company was charged under the Canadian Aviation Regulations with failing to maintain five aircraft in accordance with the company's air operator's maintenance control system. Attempts to reach Sonicblue officials were unsuccessful, but in a statement on the company's website (www.sonicblueair.com) the company suggests that a lack of maintenance
