Staff Report

Origin

During negotiations between TransLink and various property owners on No. 3 Road for lands required to construct the 98-B line, a specific acquisition was required from 4020 No. 3 Road. A subsequent change in road design resulted in errors in the acquisition process, which now require correction.

Findings Of Fact

The subject property is located on the south-east corner of the No. 3 Road/Cambie Road intersection and is owned by Robric Projects Ltd. It has C-6 commercial zoning, and is improved with a strip mall and parking.

Unable to complete negotiations for road widening to accommodate the 98-B line, TransLink negotiators expropriated the property required for the project. However, at the same time the expropriation was proceeding, the design of the road was amended with all parties (City, TransLink and the property owner) agreeing to such amendment. The project was subsequently built to the agreed upon amended design. This resulted, after the expropriation was completed, in the retaining wall that was to define the west property line being built in a different location to the actual property line defined by the expropriation, but in accordance with the new design agreed upon by all parties.

The City has now been approached by TransLink with a proposal to execute a road exchange to re-define the west property line, so that it encompasses the retaining wall as it should have been, according to the amended design. The City will also take this opportunity to "tidy up" some earlier road dedications taken from the north end of this property (Cambie Road frontage), which still show as titled parcels. These can be dedicated as "road" on the reference plan that will accomplish the road exchange.

Analysis

The areas to be exchanged are unequal. The City will be transferring approximately 355 square feet back to private ownership, and receiving approximately 8.39 square feet in return. However, this will achieve the intended west property line location that was designed and approved by all parties, and would have been accomplished if the expropriation had not already been underway when the design was changed.

Financial Impact

None. All costs for the road exchange surveys and documentation processing and registration, will be borne by TransLink..

Conclusion

In order to correct the situation of the retaining wall following the intended property line, and now encroaching onto No. 3 Road allowance, the proposed road exchange bylaw requires approval and the appropriate readings.
