STAFF REPORT

ORIGIN

Permissive tax exemptions are provided to various types of properties in accordance with sections 339 to 341, inclusive, of the Municipal Act, and Council Policy 3561. Exemption bylaws must be adopted by October 31 to be effective for the following year.

ANALYSIS

Owners of properties eligible for statutory tax exemption were asked to complete a questionnaire by September 22nd confirming continued eligibility for tax exempt status in the coming year. All questionnaires have been reviewed and those properties meeting the eligibility criteria have been listed in Bylaw No 7175.

Amendments were made to the previous year's bylaw to reflect the change in use by some of the organizations (Appendix I). Explanations for the change and each organization's responses are provided.

Appendix II provides the list of new applicants not meeting the tax exemption criteria and will be subject to taxation in 2001. Included in this appendix is the application from McKinney House for exemption under section 342. Currently we do not have a policy in place to exempt properties under this section and policies and guidelines under this section should be addressed for the 2002 taxation year.

FINANCIAL IMPACT

Property tax exemptions have an impact on City finances. Exemptions reduce the total assessed value of properties subject to taxation. Total statutory and permissive tax exemptions for 1999 was approximately $1.4 million in direct municipal taxes which the city recovers through taxation on other properties.

CONCLUSION

Property tax exemptions are provided by Council in accordance with Section 339 to 341 of the Municipal Act and Council Policy 3561. Tax exemption bylaws must be adopted by October 31st to be effective for the following year. Bylaw 7175 will provide tax exemptions in accordance with provincial legislation and current Council guidelines.

When this property was initially granted an exemption, it was indicated to city staff that the property was used as a resting area for Temple members after religious services. Beverages and snacks were provided free of charge. It has since come to our attention that food and drinks are free only if the individual has made a donation to the Temple and has asked for a ticket to be exchanged for services at this teahouse. Though cash does not change hands in the teahouse, there is still an underlying purchase and sale agreement with the ticketing system. Providing a tax exemption to this unit would cause unfair competition to other food services within the same complex. The Vancouver International Buddhist Progress Society's solicitor has provided his rationale for the tax exemption of this unit. New Submissions not Meeting the Tax Exemption Criteria

Organization		Comment
082-265-052	Vancouver Int'l Buddhist Progress Society	6660-8181 Cambie Road	Application for tax exemption was denied last year. The property is used for the sale of religious books and artifacts. This is in direct competition with other businesses who also sell religious goods. Providing a tax exemption to this unit would cause unfair competition to other businesses in the same industry. The Vancouver International Buddhist Progress Society's solicitor has provided his rationale for the tax exemption of this unit. Please refer to Appendix III
080-706-006	Po Shin Tao The Charitable Association of B.C.	160-11760 Voyager Way	A site inspection was made and the usage for the premise meets the criteria for tax exemption. Upon further investigation, it was found that the property does not have the assembly zoning required to conduct a place of worship. The City should not provide tax exemptions for any organizations not meeting bylaw requirements.
185 054-441-001	McKinney House	6471 Dyke Road	A questionnaire was sent out to all other municipalities requesting information on their treatment of heritage properties and whether any tax exemptions are provided. Responses to date indicated that heritage properties of this nature have not been granted any exemptions. BC Assessment Authority confirms that there will be a small increase in the assessed value of the improvements for the 2001 taxation year. Rezoning in the surrounding area will not affect their assessment. Please refer to Appendix IV for Mr. Eyestone's letter.

Our client has advised us that unit 6680 is the main area used for public worship of the Buddhist Sect. Units 6660, 6670, and 6690 are areas used in necessary support of and ancillary to the Temple's operation. We understand that a Tax Exemption Questionnaire was submitted for unit 6680 last week. Please discard that Questionnaire as it is being replaced with the enclosed

1. Unit 6660

Unit 6660 is necessary to the Temple's operation and is not used for gain. Any funds received from Unit 6660 is used toward the maintenance of the Temple and its operations. Unit 6660 is used to supply books and supplies that are necessary for Temple worshippers to practice their faith and fully participate in the Temple's operation. The books and supplies are privately donated and are distributed. The distribution is not conducted for gain.

The Unit is necessary to the Temple's mission to promote the four main objectives of the Fo Kuang Shan Monastery and of Buddhism: (1) to propagate Buddhist teachings through cultural activities, (2) to foster talent through education, (3) to benefit society through charitable programs, and (4) to purify human hearts and minds through Buddhist practice. In particular, the service that the Unit provides propagates Buddhist teachings, fosters talents through education and assists in purification through Buddhist practice.

2. Unit 6670

Unit 6670 is necessary to the Temple's operation and is not used for gain. Any funds received from Unit 6670 is used toward the maintenance of the Temple and its operations. Unit 6670 is used as a waiting area for worshippers and the public. This waiting area is necessary to the Temple's operation, as it allows worshippers and the public to make a proper, respectful and gradual entrance into the Temple. Unit 6670 is also used to provide a water, tea and light snack service to worshippers and the public. This service is not provided for gain.

The Unit serves an objective of the Fo Kuang Shan Monastery and of Buddhism (as referred to previously) to purify human hearts and minds through Buddhist practice. The waiting area enables the public who may not yet be comfortable with the Buddhist practice but is interested in knowing more to spiritually and mentally prepare themselves. It is their first step before entering the religion. It is also often used to receive and greet dignitaries.

3. Unit 6690

Unit 6690 is necessary to the Temple's operation and is not used for gain. Part of the Unit is used as the Temple's library and houses a religious collection. The library and storerooms contain numerous volumes of Buddhist literature. The storerooms further contain ceremonial works, tools and other items necessary to the Temple's operation.

Unit 6690 is also used to provide a variety of community recreational activities for worshippers and the public. The Unit is necessary to the Temple's mission to promote the four main objectives of the Fo Kuang Shan Monastery and of Buddhism, as referred to previously. All the listed activities conducted in Unit 6690 serve one or more of these objectives necessary to the Temple's operation. A description of each of the rooms is attached for your information. For example, the Introduction of Buddhist Sutras and Meditation Course are offered in classroom no. 8 and the meditation room respectively. The classrooms, teaching office, lecturer meeting room and meditation room are eligible for a property tax exemption.

The office of the Buddha's Light International Association Vancouver Chapter ("BLIA") performs necessary administrative, humanitarian, religious and charity services in support of the Temple's operation. The extensive activities the organization performs in the local community serve all four main objectives of the Fo Kuang Shan Monastery and of Buddhism, as referred to previously. Furthermore, the BLIA assists in the maintenance of Temple operations. For instance, BLIA volunteers cook and clean, and organize Sunday events and trips as directed by the Temple. Finally, the worshipper changing room is a necessary feature of the Temple's operation, and is therefore eligible for a property tax exemption.

Please note that we have submitted the floor plan and room descriptions for Unit 6690 as requested. Their inclusion does not reflect any change in our application position that Unit 6690 qualifies in its entirety for a property tax exemption. We do not believe that there should be any apportionment of an exemption for Unit 6690.

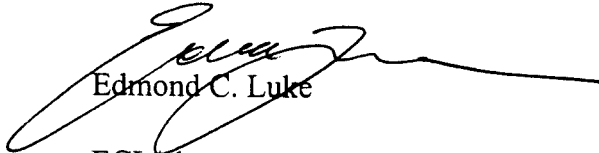

We enclose the following literature from the Fo Kuang Shan Monastery and BLIA that supports our application position:

1. Letter dated September 25, 2000 from the Temple (Vancouver International Buddhist Progress Society) with respect to Unit 6690.
2. Two brochures describing the Fokuangshan Monastery which sets out the objectives of the Buddhist practice at the Temple.
3. Introduction to BLIA, Vancouver.

Should you require further information with respect to our client's application, or if you have any questions with respect to the enclosed, please contact the writer at telephone number 631-4829.

Yours truly,

FASKEN MARTINEAU DuMOULIN LLP

Re: Heritage McKinney House- Application for relief of Property Taxes as permitted under the Municipal Act.

Dear sir and Council;

I am advised by the Richmond Heritage Commission that all requests for relief of property taxes as permitted under the Municipal Act for designated heritage buildings are to be directed to Council for consideration.

I enclose a binder of the McKinney House Heritage building restoration that has been substantially completed to date for you to preview and invite each of you to attend to the site and be my guest for a tour at your convenience in order that I might encourage your support for Property Tax Relief.

Note: binder to be delivered separately. Not on file as of date of receipt. Dw.

Since this home is unique in character, substantially elegant in materials and construction and forms an essential link to the heritage character of Steveston and London Farm, evaluation by the B.C.Assessment Authority could be onerous.

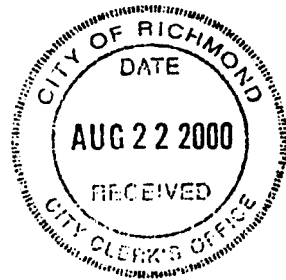

It is hoped that Council would see fit to either direct the B.C.Assessment Authority to set a nominal value on the house or that you can initiate the necessary legislation to enable us to have tax relief that will permit us to complete this restoration without penalty for maintaining the high standard of construction. Since the location and character lends itself to the future possibility that this will become a part of an expanded heritage complex in the next one hundred years, I feel that an elimination or substantial reduction of Municipal Property Taxes would be in the City's long term interest, however in the short term it would encourage and reward us for continuing this project.

I ask for your support in this request.

Yours Truly,

Curtis C. Eyestone
