Staff Report

Origin

When the new zone "Single Family Housing District (R1-0.6)" was created there was an important feature that was not incorporated into the new zone that complements a design feature of housing forms to be built in this zone. A textural amendment is required to include fireplace and chimneys forming part of the principal building to project into the side yard for a distance of not more than 0.6 m (2 ft.).

Analysis

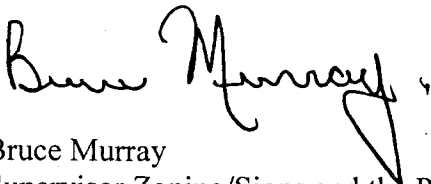

The fireplace and chimney projections into the side yard have been very successful as a design feature in areas like Odlinwood and the Packers site. The fireplaces that are proposed to encroach into the side yards are sealed units that have become a sought after feature for most of the new smaller detached single family dwellings. There would be no affect to the permitted floor area ratio and staff support the proposed amendment to include this feature.

Financial Impact

None to the City.

Conclusion

The proposed amendment to include fireplace and chimney projections into the side yard is a result of the very successful design features that were used in the C/D zones for Odlinwood and the packers site. It should have been included in the original rezoning applications but was unfortunately omitted by error. Staff have no objections to the proposed amendment to include fireplace and chimneys forming part of the principal building to project for a distance of not more than 0.6 m (2 ft.) in the "Single Family Housing District (R1-0.6)".
