Councillors,

If there's one thing that's undeniable about Richmond, it's that the population is rising and will continue to rise into the future. It's no wonder that it's an expensive place to live. Demand for housing is increasing, so it's important that we support developments that are bringing new, quality homes to the market.

Seeing this project go ahead is a win-win for everyone. It'll stimulate the economy, bring new housing supply and be a place the whole city can enjoy.

Sincerely,

Audrey Yeung
